Hot Baking Troubles Aside - Use Robin Hood Flour

We Have Completed One Quarter Century in Lacombe

Now that business is picking up all over the West, and everyone is in a much happier mood and determined to put the "Depression" out of business, The Western Globe will next week come out as an eight page paper. During the past ten months the printing business was decidedly bad, and we published the paper, small as it was, at a material loss, in fact until the last few weeks we could see no way out. But now things are changing, our farmers are in a happier mood, grain and livestock are going up in price, accounts are being paid, and we look for increasing business from now on. This district, especially, is better off than ever; our crops are the heaviest we have ever harvested and were taken off with a greatly lessened expense; ideal weather has given high grades to our grain—in fact everyone is happy, and we go into the winter in a better frame of mind than in past years.

In our next issue we will, for the benefit of readers who like to pass the winter evenings in interested reading, commence a great series, "The House of Dreams Come True." We know that this story will be most interesting to everyone, so we would ask our subscribers to be sure and read it. The first instalment will appear next week in supplement form, and from then on will be a regular weekly feature.

This month, twenty-five years ago, the present management took over the Western Globe, and has operated it continuously ever since. We have experienced a quarter of a century of ups and downs—possibly more ups than downs—and hope that during the next twenty-five years we will be able to give the town and district as good, if not better service.

We wish to thank our patrons for the generous support given us in the past.

BLACKFALDS NEWS

An illustrated lecture 79 slides will be given in the old Canyon Church on Friday night, Nov. 6 at 8:30, on "The Christian Church in Japan". Some local views will also be shown. The same lecture will be given in Blindman School on Monday the 9th 8:15 and at Spruceville School on Nov. 10 at the same hour. A small admission will be collected at the door at each of these places. The lecture will be given at Blackfalds on Sunday evening at 7:30. The slides are beautiful and interesting. Everyone should see them.

The following letters have been received and will convey to the donors of vegetables to the Blackfalds car, the hearty thanks of the recipients:

Lomond, Alta.

Oct. 21, 1931

Rev. H. D. Riggs, Blackfalds, Alta.

Dear Sir:

I have to convey through you, to the donors of the car of vegetables received for this district, the thanks and appreciation of the recipients.

The car arrived on Friday evening last, everything in good order and distribution started on Saturday morning and was finished by evening. One half of the contents of car was hauled to Travers by voluntary labor and was distributed at that point by the U.F.W.A. and the distribution here was undertaken by one Andrew Tulloch who volunteered his services.

As nearly as could be we apportioned them as follows:

Married man and family, 200 lbs. of potatoes, 65 lbs. mixed vegetables. Married man and wife only, 200 lbs. of potatoes, 35 lbs. mixed vegetables. Single man, 100 lbs. all told.

The mixed vegetables of course were soon all gone and were replaced with potatoes.

166 families participated in the distribution.

Yours truly,

K. H. Bates,

Sec. Treas. Enchant, 'A',

Rev. H. D. Riggs, Blackfalds.

Dear Sir:

Poor gift of potatoes was gratefully received and appreciated on October 10th.

They were the biggest potatoes I have ever seen, and for you living where there is rainfall enough to grow potatoes like those it will be hard to realize how desolate and wind swept this part of Alberta is this year. But we hope next year will be better.

Again thanking you, knowing that God the friend of the less fortunate will reward your generosity.

Yours truly,

Patrick Delaney

DEATH OF MRS. A. ERSKINE

Mrs. A. Erskine, for the past thirty years a resident of the Bentley district, died at her home on Saturday last, aged 60 years. Deceased was held in high esteem by her many friends, and the sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family. The funeral was held at Bentley on Saturday last, and was attended by a host of friends from town and country, and many lovely floral tokens of regret were received. She leaves to mourn, her husband and one son, Robert.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Erskine, Ronald, and Mr. and Mrs. Cadman, and Mr. and Mrs. O.

Buy a Poppy

Poppy Day comes round once more and the ladies of the West We Forget Club will be on the streets on Saturday selling these little remembrances. These poppies are made by wounded war veterans in the hospitals, and the money obtained by the sale of these poppies is used for the purpose of helping these men and their families. The needs of these wounded men are many, and the little comforts that everyone desires are all the more desirable when one is confined to bed in an hospital. You are only asked once a year to donate to this most worthy cause, and you can rest assured that even the smallest amount of money given for a poppy will be appreciated. Help to make this the biggest poppy day ever held, and in this way you will be helping to make the lives of these wounded men just a little more comfortable, their families just a little happier, and their future just a little more cheerful as they will know through your response that they are not forgotten. Buy a poppy!

WHEAT PICTURE MUCH BRIGHTER

Strengthening wheat prices and improved demand for the cereal indicate that the international situation is changing and the two-year decline in prices is at an end. The economical depths to which wheat sank had the direct result of reducing acreage to the extent of some 14,000,000 acres in Canada, United States, Australia and Argentina, and weather conditions have created a further reduction in production so that it now seems apparent that the world's surplus will be drastically reduced before the end of the crop year.

The world movement of wheat for the present crop year has averaged around 16,250,000 bushels weekly. This demand is running higher by a million and a quarter bushels weekly than the early estimates of Mr. Broomhall, well known British wheat authority. The healthy demand is due to low carryovers in importing countries and the comparatively poor quality of the current European crop. Non-European countries have purchased nearly 39,000,000 bushels of wheat for this crop year, which is 14,000,000 bushels greater than the purchases for the same period last year.

At the present time the attention of millers and traders is centred in the United States' winter wheat area. There is no doubt that the wheat project there is not encouraging insofar as large production is concerned. The official estimate of winter wheat seeding will not be available for a month and a half, but private observers predict at least a 16 per cent. reduction in acreage.

Last year United States' winter wheat area produced a record crop which averaged nineteen bushels to the acre, on 40,000,000 acres. Winter killing was comparatively trivial because of the ideal condition of the crop as it went into the winter, and the favorable winter weather. The crop this year will go into the winter season under very poor conditions and greater winter killing may be anticipated.

On the whole, the world wheat picture looks a lot brighter at the present time. Dealers show a confidence which has been absent for the past two years and there is always more indication to buy on a rising market than in the face of falling prices.

In spite of all that has been said about wheat consumption, late figures released by the Dominion government show that there has been a decided increase in the world's wheat consumption. In the ten-year period from 1921 to 1931 the annual disappearance of wheat has increased by some 700,000,000 bushels. This would lead to the assumption that the wheat industry still has a promising future, and that as the years go by the price of wheat in Canada will be called upon more and more, to supply the world's daily bread.

SUPERVISOR OF V&N

WEDS IN VICTORIA

(Vancouver Province)

Of interest to a wide circle of friends here and in Eastern Canada was the wedding of Miss Nan Mann, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mann, of Halifax, and Mr. W. H. Halpin Moffat, of Westbank, B.C., which was solemnized in Victoria on Monday night.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's father, Mr. George Green, playing the wedding march.

Mrs. Moffat is well known throughout Canada, having been for the past three years a national supervisor with the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada in the western provinces.

Mr. Moffat is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Halpin.

ORDINATION SERVICE

An impressive ordination service, of which Rev. I. H. Eberle was Moderator, brought to a conclusion a very successful two-day convention of the Baptist churches of the Red Deer district.

Approximately 80 persons, visitors laymen, delegates and ministers, attended the Rally, the program, for which was arranged by Rev. J. H. Curtis, of Olds, District Chairman, and which included many prominent speakers.

Youth is the time when precepts of Christianity are most easily taught, said Rev. I. H. Eberle, Red Deer, in an address on the Evangelism of Youth, "and there is great need of the evangelism of youth at the present time." Rev. M. L. Gregg, in pointing out the importance of the Bible as the greatest literary work in the world, also stressed the fact that the Bible is not made use of as much as it should be.

The Tuesday evening service included a pageant "Missionary Arithmetic," by Lesaupe ladies and an interesting address by Rev. C. G. Stone of Edmonton on "The High Cost of Living," in which he emphasized that living the Christian life is bound to cost something, but that anything worth having is worth paying for.

"Prepare your sermons in advance, be positive, be contented with your lot and do not scold," said Rev. John C. Gardiner, of Camrose, in his lecture to the Ministers on Wednesday morning, "The Hour of First Baptist Church, Calgary, on Missionary activities, and Dr. McLaughlin, who issued a challenge to the Church, on the death of religious interest in outlying rural communities, were also listened to with much interest.

The ordaining of Mr. Coyne Gifford, pastor of Lacombe church, took up the afternoon and evening services. Those taking part in the ordination services were Rev. R. J. Garrett, of Stettler, who delivered the charge, to Mr. Gifford, Rev. J. G. Gardiner, of Calgary, District Chairman, and Mr. T. Underwood, Calgary, Chairman of Alberta Board, welcomed Mr. Gifford to the District and to the Convention. Dr. McLaughlin presided over the ordination ceremony.

Many songs and musical numbers interspersing the addresses provided interesting variety and a delicious banquet was served on Wednesday evening by the Lacombe members, which were heartily enjoyed by all.

THE POSITION OF GREAT BRITAIN

There has been a tendency in the United States and France to criticise the action of Great Britain in going off the gold standard. There has not been lacking in certain ill-informed quarters in these countries a disposition to glory over the impairment of London's prestige as the international bankers of the world. Later surveys of the situation have tempered the exuberance of these outbursts. The position of international banker carries many responsibilities in its train. The possession of three-fourths of the world's supply of gold puts certain definite obligations on the possessors. France and the United States have been placed in that position of responsibility in the world problem, Premier Laval's hurried trip to the United States is an evidence that France feels the need of consultation and support from the other chief gold holders. Great Britain can now sit back and see these two nations attack the world problem which used to be her special concern and responsibility.

The situation is stated concisely by Sir John Power, M.P. for Wimbledon, in a letter to the New York Times. "Whatever our troubles may be," he pointed out, "let it not be thought that France and the United States will escape their share. If their policy results in driving every other nation off the gold standard, they will find themselves in the position of the man with a bag of diamonds on a desert island, and their collection of gold will suffer a stupendous drop in value. If gold is to form the future basis of the monetary systems of the world, there will have to be a complete change of heart on the part of the two big hoarding nations. Their policy has rendered a gold basis impossible and has contributed in the greatest degree to the present world-wide depression in trade, from which they themselves have not escaped."

Daring and after the war Great Britain paid the United States $600,000,000 in gold in discharge of her obligations. On the money loaned to France during the war British taxpayers are paying approximately $150,000,000 a year, while, by British generosity, the French government only pays Britain forty per cent. of this amount annually. In addition, Great Britain has forgiven her allies every penny of war debt owing beyond that sum which is demanded for the annual British payment to the United States.

From all this it is evident that

The House of Values - Lacombe, Alberta

The Mother Country has nothing to reproach herself with, unless it is too much generosity to other nations, France included. The United States and France should be the last nations to criticize Great Britain for going off the gold standard, Sir John Power declares the latter is not down and out, but has merely entered the period of reconstruction. The first task is to adopt measures necessary to redress the trade balance and stop the gradual draining away of trade resources, which are the life blood of the nation.

WHERE THEY WANT HIM

Providing no hitch occurs, and providing his sentence is permitted to run its full course, the United States has at least placed Alphonse Capone where he should be: in a long time ago." He was sentenced on Saturday last by Federal Judge James Wikerson to eleven years' imprisonment for evasion of income tax laws.

Capone is probably not the undisputed ruler of Chicago's underworld that tradition holds he is. He is one of many who has somehow been favored by remarkable publicity. But he is nevertheless an important figure in the underworld. If the other leaders are similarly incarcerated for a long period of time and the organization they have built up is allowed to crumble, they will have difficulty in rebuilding it when they are free once more. The underworlds of the large United States cities grow insidiously and unnoticed. The people of fifteen years ago were not conscious of the danger of the gang system. Racketeering was undeveloped and customarily called by another name. Prohibition came in and the incentive to be lawless increased. Illegal organizations developed into modern feudal chiefs. And America awoke one morning to find herself hopelessly gang ridden.

Only within the last year have efforts to eradicate the evil met with any real success. Capone's sentence, if followed by sentences upon other underworld leaders, should be one of the greatest blows to the gang system. And once it had been smashed, it would be an extremely difficult task to put the hoodlum organization together again. The United States is too wide awake in 1931.

Interviewed with reference to the explanation of the Blindman Pool as to the operation of their scales, Jack MacKenzie told a reporter that he had nothing to say at present, as he was too busy shipping out hogs and cattle to give the matter much thought.

Instant death was the fate of Eric Sorenson, of Edmonton, when the truck in which he was riding with Kanud Bonde, was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train at the level crossing over the right of way near Ellerslie at 1 p.m. on Tuesday.

Chief of Police A. MacDonald, wishes to thank and congratulate the young people of Lacombe on their behavior Hallow'en night. Chief MacDonald reports that there was no damage reported whatsoever and that it was the quietest Hallow'en night he has ever witnessed. He and his large force of special police received the co-operation of the young people for a safe and sane Hallow'en.

Several complaints have been made to the Police of boys riding bicycles on the sidewalks, particularly after dark when the offenders could not be identified. Chief of Police MacDonald asks the citizens of the Town to co-operate with him in putting a stop to this menace and warns all bicycle owners that a heavy penalty will be imposed on any one convicted of the offence.

Herman Seddema, farmer of Black Diamond, was instantly killed Monday in a road accident south of Innisfail. The deceased was riding in a truck driven by J. C. Cusack, and was on his way to Wetaskiwin. The accident occurred shortly after noon five miles south of Innisfail, on the Edmonton-Calgary highway. The truck overturned in the loose gravel, pinning Seddema beneath it.

When a truck swerved into her car near Boden on Saturday, Mrs. Jas. Hazelwood, wife of Mr. Jas. Hazelwood, Lacombe, sustained painful injuries. She was taken to Lacombe for treatment, and is recovering nicely. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Mr. Rupert Wakefield and daughter Millicent, of "Stream Farm," Carleton Place, Sask., while en route to Calgary, where the former will attend the United Grain Growers' Convention, spent Monday and Tuesday at St. Cyprian's Rectory, the guests of the Rev. T. H. and Mrs. Chapman. It is interesting to note that Mr. Chapman was in Mr. Wakefield's employ at one time, but they had not seen each other for twenty years. Mr. Wakefield is a well-known breeder of Herefords, and has often attended Lacombe's famous Bull Sales.

Miss B. MacDonald, a daughter of Detective Jim MacDonald, of Edmonton, joined the Wakefields at Lacombe, and the party will motor on to Banff and spend a day or two there before returning to Lacombe for the week-end.

CENTRAL ALBERTA'S GAIN FROM RISE

It takes such a calculation as that issued from Ottawa on Wednesday to make one realise what a difference a few cents in the price can make in the returns to the wheat grower. Especial note is taken in the bureau's report of the effect of the recent rise in the fortunes of the farmers "in the regions of high yields in Central Alberta." The advance between October 1 and Oct. 27 is estimated to be worth to the average farmer in this area about $150.

The bureau regards it as an advantage to the producers in this territory that their threshing operations have been delayed and that as a consequence they were able to sell little wheat while the market was at a lower level. This is certainly a correct view if the work can be finished before the arrival of winter and there is no serious deterioration in quality because of the interruption that the frequent rains have caused. Reports from various districts indicate that there has not been any great damage so far and that rapid progress with the threshing is now being made.

Confidence in the market's future has been steadily strengthening. Such an improvement has been witnessed since the first of the month, was bound to draw many in on the buying side, especially as the advance was well supported by the statistical position. The wonder is that more attention has not already been paid to the very large decrease in acreage that low prices have brought about. The Ottawa officials a week ago stated that over 13,000, 000 acres of wheat land were out of production during the present, cereal year in the United States, the Argentine and Australia, which was equivalent of the entire expansion in those countries and Canada as well during the period from 1906 to 1930. In addition it has become more and more evident that Russian shipments are to be much less this season than last.

It is thus quite possible that when the bulk of the central Alberta crop is ready for market the upward price movement will have been carried considerably further. In any case the farmers and everybody else in this part of western Canada must feel in much better spirits as winter approaches because of the improved demand for our chief product, of which the yield has been so heavy hereabouts.

A. M. CAMPBELL'S

SHOULD NOT WASTE TIME

ON CHRISTMAS CONCERTS
Mr. A. R. Gibson, inspector of schools, offers the following suggestions regarding the annual Christmas Concert usually held in rural schools in this part of Alberta. The suggestion is made as a result of conversations with a number of rural teachers.

To begin with, it is agreed that of all the controllable factors which waste the actual teaching time of the rural school, the Christmas concert is the greatest. In many schools preparation and training begin in November. In nearly all schools, part or, in extreme cases, the whole of the afternoon during December is spent in preparing the programme.

The educational value of the programme is often doubtful. It is sufficient to say that, in very few cases do the children give an exhibition of what they can do in actual school work.

There is another side of the question, viz., the children's. Who are the people who should be entertained and amused at Christmas time? The answer is fairly obvious and it is suggested that older folks in the district get together and put on an entertainment for the young.

It would, however, be wrong to say that the Christmas concert put on by the children has absolutely no value. It certainly teaches confidence, self-reliance and deportment. It is also true that parents take great delight in the performances of their children. Can these results be secured in another way?

The School Act of some years back suggested that the rural school hold an Exhibition Day each year. The parents were to be invited to visit the school and observe what the children could do in the work of their respective grades. It is suggested that this Exhibition Day be revived on or about Arbor Day each Spring, when the parents will be the guests of the children; will hear what they can do in Reading, Recitation, Spelling (a match could be devised for all grades) and History or Geography; and see what they have done in such subjects as Arithmetic, Composition and Writing, by examining their exercise books. Training for such a day would certainly be no waste of school time.

If these suggestions were to be put into effect, valuable school time would be served, both children and parents would still be able to enjoy their Christmas entertainment, and parents would have an opportunity of observing their children demonstrating what they could actually do in school work.

"AT LEAST PRETTY TO EAT HERE"

Much has been published about the attractions of country life during a period of economic disturbance. Figures have been compiled in the United States which show there has been a strong movement back to the land during the past two years. This, it is recognized, is due to appreciation of the fact that the standard of comfort in hard times is bound to be much higher in rural than in urban surroundings. How much more favorably farm life has come to be regarded in Canada is the theme of an editorial article in the Manitoba Free Press to which the more heed must be paid because that newspaper has probably had more to say than any other about the prevailing agricultural distress in this part of the dominion.

In spite of the farmer's diminishing returns, he is, we are told, becoming much more content with his occupation. The writer tells of visiting communities after communities in Manitoba and in the northern sections of Manitoba and in the north-eastern sections of Saskatchewan and Alberta, where note was taken of "the cellared bins of vegetables, the shelves bowed to the middle with their weights of preserved fruits and meats and the stored crocks of yellow butter." The description makes one's mouth water. What seemed to have almost become a country chorus heard: "At least there is plenty to eat here. It must be deadly to be out of work in the city."

It was found that there was scarcely a farm that was not sheltering people who had met with bad luck in the town. In most cases these were relatives of the family. But could not many others in the plight be thus looked after? There are plenty of ways in which they could be of assistance in return for food and lodging. Would it not be well to explore much more thoroughly the possibilities of this method of relieving unemployment? The further it were extended the more the pressure on public funds would be relieved. Government agencies would do well to make a more thorough investigation of the opportunities thus open than appears to have been done up to the present.

OBITUARY OF HERBERT GEORGE LONG (Contributed)

The Meadowbrook Community and surrounding district were saddened by the death of one of the best reported young men in the Lacombe district, in the person of Herbert George Long, who passed away in the Lacombe hospital on October 9th, at the age of 26 years.

Herbert, as he was known by all his friends, had undergone an operation for appendicitis and was almost convalescent, in fact was looking forward to returning home the next morning when a blood clot reached his heart and he passed away suddenly.

The funeral service was held from his late residence, and was conducted by his pastor, the Rev. M. L. Wright, assisted by a former pastor, Rev. Mr. Matthews, both of whom bore tribute to his Christian character, manliness, integrity and high ideals. Mr. Wright spoke on "The new song which none could learn but the redeemed," from Rev. 11: 1-3. The attendance at the service and the numerous wreaths and sprays bore evidence of the esteem in which he was held.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, formerly Miss Grace Ford, his little daughter, Blanche, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Long and two brothers, Clifton and Roy, all of Meadowbrook; besides many uncles and aunts, cousins and a host of friends, who are wondering why two whose married life was so ideal should be so soon parted, but "Some day we'll understand."

Interment took place in the Lacombe cemetery, Sunday October 11.

THE TEACHING OF HISTORY

A teacher in Toronto objects to the teaching of partisan history. He would have all the historical events unsuitable for study by children left out of junior school texts, for he claims that if the story is distorted later discovery of the truth destroys all faith in history as a science. He would have history presented in a form as true as "cold unbiased judgment" can make it.

Most people will agree that the blatant inaccuracies of some history books—produced largely by misplaced patriotism on the part of the historian—should be suppressed. Such histories are really not texts but propagandist pamphlets. But it is probably quite impossible for the historian to write or the professor to teach non-partisan history.

Unlike the exact sciences, history depends upon variable premises; premises which, as far as fallible human judgment is concerned, are only half-truths. The child in extreme youth learns dates and salient facts—usually faintly amusing—about the important personages of history. He learns that Ethelred the Unready was always being attacked when he was not prepared for battle; that Henry VIII had six wives and that George Washington cut down a cherry tree. Later, he begins to learn history. He is no longer satisfied with the assimilation of certain facts. He attempts to group those facts significantly, and to trace to those groupings the progress and significance of the great movements which have governed mankind.

The trouble is that fallible man cannot let the facts group themselves and then draw therefrom impersonal conclusions. He begins with a premise, a premise which he wants to believe, and finds that he is grouping the facts to suit the theory rather than framing their theory to suit the facts. Thus Mr. Hendrick Van Loon, the American historian, pronounces "History is the story of man in search of his daily bread," and proceeds to arrange his facts to coincide with the economic interpretation of history. Another historian, with religious prejudices, groups his facts to coincide with the spiritual interpretation of history—another—an admirer of Ciesar, Napoleon, Mohammed, and probably other outstanding personalities, arranges his material to suit the "great men" interpretation of history. And all these historians are in a sense right and in another sense wrong.

The Toronto teacher who so glibly proposes the teaching of non-partisan history forgets that every historian from Herodotus to H. G. Wells was himself a biased man.

The Bishop will be here for Confirmation and Dedication, at 11 a.m., on Sunday, December 13th. Please keep this date in mind.
